Revised: 06/2017

The study of foreign language and culture is a cornerstone of education in today's world. It teaches intercultural competence by increasing students' understanding of their own background and their sensitivity for other traditions and values. Knowledge of foreign language and culture brings obvious competitive advantages in careers with an international dimension. As a liberal arts discipline, it improves analytic-conceptual and communication skills necessary for professional careers. Enhanced with appropriate course work, a major in German serves as a foundation for professional training in such subjects as business, law, politics, and medicine, as well as the media and communication industry. Students with a bachelor's degree in German will compete well in non-technical fields for jobs requiring an undergraduate degree.

Required courses for the German Language and Cultural Studies major

The German Language and Cultural Studies major requires the completion of 33 to 35 credits distributed as follows. If necessary to fulfill credit requirements, higher-level language courses can be substituted for GER 0003 and GER 0004.

Prerequisites; choose one of the following pairs of courses. The equivalency of other courses will be determined by the department.

GER 0001 Elementary German 1
GER 0002 Elementary German 2

GER 0101 Beginning German 1
GER 0102 Beginning German 2

Required language courses

GER 0003 Intermediate German 1
GER 0004 Intermediate German 2

Required writing course

GER 1001 German Writing or
GER 1003 Professional German 1

1000 level course requirement

One course at the 1000 level

Literary analysis course requirement

GER 1105 Literary Analysis

1100 level course requirement

Two courses at the 1100 level

1200 to 1400 level course requirement

One seminar in German at the 1200 to 1400 level

Two of the following courses

Any seminar in German at the 1200-1400 level
1500-level course in the Department of German (with some work in German, arranged with instructor)
German studies courses in other departments with a 1-credit trailer in German

Capstone

GER 1399 Senior Capstone Seminar *

* This course should be taken in the fall term of the senior year.

Outcomes assessment: In the fall term of the senior year, majors will enroll in a capstone seminar, where they will research a topic in detail and produce a senior thesis, which will be presented publicly. In the final term of their senior year, majors will be advised about formal language proficiency evaluation through the ACTFL OPI (Oral Proficiency Interview) or the Deutsch als Fremdsprache (DaF) certification program.

Grade requirements: A minimum GPA of 2.0 is required in each course that counts toward the major.

Satisfactory/No Credit option: No course that counts toward the major can be taken on an S/NC basis unless the student receives special permission from the major advisor.

Writing (W) requirement: Students must complete at least one W-course in the major. GER 1001 and GER 1003 fulfill this requirement.

Related area: A minimum of 12 credits is required in any one Dietrich School department chosen in consultation with the major advisor. The completion of an official Dietrich School minor or a Dietrich School or UCIS certificate also satisfies this requirement.

Honors major requirements: To earn departmental honors in German, students must demonstrate superior performance in departmental courses by:

- earning at least a 3.5 GPA average in their major courses;
- demonstrating a high level of proficiency in speaking and writing German; and
- completing a three-credit senior honors project (in addition to 31 credits of the major) that has been accepted by the departmental faculty. Senior honors projects may include:
  - a semester-long, independent research project, as an extension of the senior thesis written during the capstone seminar; or
  - taking an exam on a comprehensive reading list derived by the student in consultation with the faculty; or
  - enrolling in a graduate seminar and completing a graduate paper.

Study abroad: Study and residence in a German-speaking country is an invaluable component of a German major's education. German majors are encouraged to study at a German-speaking institution and are given assistance with the selection of a program. Our partnership with the University of Augsburg (near Munich) offers an excellent and relatively inexpensive opportunity to enroll in regular university courses during the summer (May-July). Numerous other possibilities exist, and financial aid may be available. Students can transfer credits from abroad for their major in accordance with the credit transfer policy of the University of Pittsburgh. A maximum of 12 credits from abroad may apply toward the major. All study abroad credits have to be pre-approved by the Director of Undergraduate Studies. For information on other study abroad opportunities, consult the Study Abroad Office in WPU 802.

_____ GER 0004 *

_____ GER (1000-level course) **

* Students must pass GER 0004 with a minimum grade of B- before taking any German course taught at the 1000 level.

** Courses to fulfill this requirement include: GER 1000, GER 1001, GER 1003, GER 1004, GER 1005.

Desired outcomes

Students who complete Option 3 should be able to perform on the OPI-equivalent test at the level of intermediate mid. This level would allow them to engage in a range of everyday conversational situations related to their personal biography, interests, activities, read/ understand the main ideas of authentic texts on topics of general interest (e.g. newspapers, internet, short prose), communicate general content in writing (personal letters, request specific information), and understand the main ideas communicated in audio/video documents (film, video, television). This level of proficiency is one step above that which we assume is appropriate for students who complete our GER 0004 at the A grade level.

Note: Students must apply for any official Minor they will complete or have completed at the time they apply for graduation
