

Italian Major and Italian Minor

www.frenchanditalian.pitt.edu

Revised: 02/2019

A major in Italian gives students at the University of Pittsburgh the opportunity to study in detail a foreign language and to acquire an education in a literary and cultural tradition central to the humanities. Studying Italian language, literature, and culture prepares students for graduate study in law and international affairs, advanced work in the humanities, and careers in business, governmental service, and teaching. The University is committed to international study, and students are encouraged to take advantage of the numerous study abroad opportunities available to them. Students can combine a major in Italian with a second major in a field such as political science, history, anthropology, history of art and architecture, music, English, business, linguistics, or another foreign language. Students who choose to study the linguistic, literary, cinematographic, and cultural traditions of Italy will acquire an invaluable technical resource and an in-depth knowledge of a diverse and foundational intellectual tradition. Required courses for the Italian Language and Literature major

After one term of college instruction in the Italian language (ITAL 0101 Italian Language and Culture 1 or the equivalent as determined by the results of a placement test administered within the Department of French and Italian), students may enroll in ITAL 0102 Italian Language and Culture 2 for credit toward the major.

The Italian major requires the completion of 36 credits beyond ITAL 0101, distributed as follows.

Core course

ITAL 0102 Italian Language and Culture 2
ITAL 0103 Italian Language and Culture 3
ITAL 0113 Modern and Contemporary Culture
ITAL 0115 Performing Italian
ITAL 0117 Italies
ITAL 0081 Made in Italy

Note: Because ITAL 0081 is taught in English and has no prerequisites, it is recommended that students interested in majoring in Italian take this course as early in their studies as possible.

Writing (W) requirement: Students must complete one 1000-level writing-intensive (W) course taught in Italian. ITAL 1032, ITAL 1041, and ITAL 1065 are always offered as W courses.

Other required coursework

Five courses at least three of which must be 1000-level courses taught in Italian (in the ITAL 1030-1069 sequence) and no more than two in English (0080, 0086, 0087, 0088, any course of the 1070-1092 series)

One-credit Capstone Experience

Grade requirements: A minimum GPA of 2.0 in departmental courses is required for graduation.

Satisfactory/No Credit option: No core courses that count toward the Italian major or minor may be taken on the satisfactory/no credit (S/NC) basis. One other course may be taken on the S/NC basis. Students deciding to pursue an Italian major or minor after taking a course on the S/NC basis should consult with the major advisor.

Related area: A minimum of 12 credits is required in any one Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences department chosen in consultation with the major advisor or in a cluster of courses approved by your advisor. The completion of an official Dietrich School minor or Dietrich School or UCIS certificate also satisfies this requirement.

Honors major requirements: Students majoring in Italian Language and Literature may earn the Honors designation by fulfilling the following criteria.

1. Have an average GPA of 3.5 or higher in courses required for the major; and
2. Select one of the following options:
 - a. Completion of a 25-30 page research paper in Italian, developed in consultation with a faculty advisor and approved by a second faculty member. Work on this project would take place over three terms.
 - b. Participation in the advanced track of the Pitt-in-Florence program or in the six-week advanced Italian summer Panther Program abroad and completion of ITAL 1905 Internship in Italian or ITAL 1909 Undergraduate Research in Italian, for at least 2 credits.
 - c. Completion of an additional 1000-level undergraduate or graduate level seminar and ITAL 1905 Internship in Italian or ITAL 1909 Undergraduate Research in Italian, for at least 2 credits.

Language study: Reading competency in at least one other foreign language is recommended for those students planning to do graduate study in Italian.

Study abroad: Students are strongly encouraged to add an international dimension to their undergraduate education by studying abroad. By participating in a study abroad program, students can earn credits toward the major as well as general education requirements. Please contact Francesca Savoia in the Italian program for guidance in choosing the most appropriate program. Students should choose a study abroad program, keeping in mind their specific program of study and other factors such as location, cost, level of immersion, and internship opportunities.
